Join Our Towngas Low Carbon Action!

In a bid to help save our much polluted planet, we launched our "Low Carbon Action!" Campaign in October 2009. Under the initiative, we are organising a series of green activities to encourage the people of Hong Kong to join hands to reduce carbon emissions by one million tonnes in total.

At the "Low Carbon Action!" Campaign opening ceremony on 10 October, 2009, primary school students pledged to live a low carbon life while also participating in a relay competition using a "low carbon bicycle" to broaden their knowledge on how to live a low carbon lifestyle.

Towngas and Hong Kong EdCity jointly launched a new education kit on energy and environmental protection, covering the production and utilisation of different types of energy, to raise student awareness and concerns with regard to environmental protection.

Towngas sponsored the Conservancy Association's Tree for Life outdoor environmental education programme for students to enhance their understanding on the importance of trees.

"Low Carbon Action!" Green Christmas Exhibition

Towngas launched a Low Carbon Action! Green Christmas Exhibition at New World Centre, Tsim Sha Tsui from December 2009 to 3 January 2010. A specially designed Low Carbon Christmas Lighting unit has been built, enabling public to power the lighting by riding a bicycle, leading to a zero emissions green Christmas for Hong Kong.

The exhibition also showcased three Christmas trees made of nearly 6,000 old CDs, a special Christmas ornament made of used tires and festive floats with low carbon living tips.

At the officiating ceremony on 24 November, officiating guests (from left) KLP Group Limited's Director & Acting General Manager Raymond To, Director of Friends of the Earth (Hong Kong) Edwin Lau, Non-official Member of the Executive Council Convenor Leung Chun Ying, Towngas' Executive Director and Chief Operating Officer James Kwan, and Towngas' Low Carbon Christmas Ambassador Charlene Choi, paddled to power the zero emissions Christmas lights.

Towngas Low Carbon Christmas Ambassador Charlene Choi sang the new Towngas theme song, "Blissful Air", advocating the benefits of a low carbon lifestyle.

You are welcome to join our low carbon initiatives. Make your pledge at our "Low Carbon Action!" website,
