(11 October, 2018) The Hong Kong and China Gas Company Limited (Towngas) has been widely recognised for its longstanding Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) efforts in caring for the community and promoting sustainable economic, social and environmental development. On 18 September, Towngas was awarded the "Grand Caring Award" and the "Most Innovative Award" under the Corporate Category of the "Industry Cares Recognition Scheme 2018" organised by the Federation of Hong Kong Industries (FHKI). Today, the Social Welfare Department's Steering Committee on Promotion of Volunteer Service also named Towngas the First Runner-up in the 2016-18 Best Corporate Volunteer Service Project Competition.

The Federation of Hong Kong Industries (FHKI) recognised Towngas with the "Grand Caring Award" for its effort, achievement and dedication to community care, creating shared values, building good relationship with stakeholders, and improving the environment while sustaining business growth. Towngas believes that continuing to optimise the company's family-friendly policy has definitely increased the positive energy of its staff whilst also enhancing their physical and mental health. Towngas has won the "Most Innovative Award" for the launching of its green concept of "turning waste into energy", with its Combined Heat and Power Generating System in collaboration with Alice Ho Miu Ling Nethersole Hospital.

The 2016-18 Best Corporate Volunteer Service Project Competition has continued with its theme of "Innovation•Vision•Sustainability" aiming to encourage corporate volunteer teams to develop innovative and sustainable volunteer projects. In response to the increasing number of elderly people suffering from Mild Cognitive Impairment (MCI), Towngas Volunteer Service Team launched its innovative “Chef Anchor” programme. Towngas volunteers conduct cognitive training through cooking for elderly people with MCI, hoping to alleviate the symptoms. “Chef Anchor” has earned the Towngas Volunteer Service Team the honour of First Runner-up in the Best Corporate Volunteer Service Project Competition.

Looking into the future, Towngas will continue to implement and promote corporate social responsibility, integrate corporate citizenship concept into operational strategies and management measures, and strive to fulfill the Company's corporate social responsibility vision.
