Towngas Volunteer Service Team receives "2010 Volunteers with Service Hours exceeding 10,000 Award"

Our Towngas Volunteer Service Team received the "2010 Volunteers with Service Hours Exceeding 10,000 Award" from the Steering Committee on the Promotion of Volunteer Services of the Social Welfare Department in October. They received the award for their more than 10,000 hours' of ongoing contribution to the community in 2010.

In the past, a wide array of social service activities were held. In addition to "Rice Dumplings for the Community" and "Mooncakes for the Community", we have organised "Cooking for Fun English Learning Class" initiative since 2006. Volunteer Service Team members also provide year-round attention and care to the elderly living on their own with our "Soup to Warm the Heart", "Photo for the Elderly", "Hair-cutting Service for the Elderly", "Personal Emergency (PE) Link Check-up Service for the Elderly" and "Installation of Safety Rails" programmes.

"Cooking for Fun" enables children to learn English via lively cooking classes. Over 2,680 children benefited from the programme since 2006.

Green Exhibition at Eco Expo Asia 2011

James Kwan, Towngas Executive Director and Chief Operating Officer (right) shows Edward Yau, Secretary for the Environment, the HKSAR Government (centre), how to operate our low carbon interactive game, when he visited our Towngas booth.

Towngas participated in Eco Expo Asia 2011, organised by the Hong Kong Trade Development Council from 26 to 29 October. Promoting our committed environmental policy and leading green products, we showcased our new commercial "Cool-kitchen" appliances, high-efficient Lotus Flame Built-in Hob as well as water heaters.

We also made use of this international trade platform to exchange views on the latest green technologies and sustainable development with other exhibitors. This exchange is helping to drive low carbon development in the commercial environmental industry.

Our high-efficient "Cool-kitchen" series, won high praise from many of the other exhibitors.

Green Leaders' Bloc nurtures Future Green Leaders

Towngas has sponsored The Conservancy Association's "Green Leader Bloc" training programme targeted at university students this year. The programme encourages young people to make a personal commitment to environmental protection, as they join a new generation of young green leaders.

Participants will take up a one-year training challenge, under which they are required to design creative low carbon projects to preserve the environment.

The kick-off ceremony was held at Flame restaurant at Towngas Avenue in Tsim Sha Tsui.

"Cook For Love" Promoting harmonious family relations

In September, Towngas joined hands with the Social Services Department to launch the "Cook For Love" programme, promoting harmonious relations in single-parent families.

Towngas volunteers recruited their own family members to form "Family Volunteer Teams". Together with the low income, single-parent families participating in the scheme, they will be taking part in different activities that have been designed to build effective communication skills within families.

The second activity, "Mutual Appreciation" took place in mid-October. Guided by a professional trainer, participants learned how to make cupcakes while also enjoy interactive group games. The carefully designed activities have been specially chosen to cement strong ties between family members and create happier and more harmonious homes.

"The 10th Hong Kong Occupational Safety & Health Award 2011"

Further to winning an "International Safe Workplace" certificate in May, we also won "The 10th Hong Kong Occupational Safety & Health Awards 2011".

The "Hong Kong Occupational Safety & Health Award" extends across different industries in Hong Kong, recognising the achievements and outstanding performances in the occupational safety practices of the companies concerned. It is co-organised by the Occupational Safety & Health Council, government departments, trade unions, chambers of commerce and trade organisations. Towngas received the Safety Management System Gold Award, OSH Annual Report Gold Award and Safety Performance Award.
